Doyt L. Perry Field

This is the nineteenth year that the Falcons have played their football games in Doyt L. Perry Stadium. Built in 1966 for approximately $2.8 million, it now has a seating capacity of 30,300 with the addition of the end zone seats in 1982.

The field is named in honor of the man who coached the Falcons to a 77-10-5 record from 1955-64. Perry remained as Bowling Green's athletic director for six years after stepping down as football coach. Now retired, Perry is still a nine month resident of Bowling Green, and is one of the Falcons' staunchest boosters.

The east side of the stadium includes dressing rooms, the equipment and training rooms, and most of the athletic department offices. On the west side are the maintenance area, storage rooms, handball courts, the track offices, the Falcon Club office and the Falcon Clubhouse. Sitting atop the press box on the west side is the Stadium Club. Now in its fifth year of operation, the Stadium Club has 106 theatre-type seats, and is one of the finest facilities of its kind in the midwest.

Bowling Green won the first game ever played in Perry Field, blanking Dayton 13-0, on October 1, 1966. Coming into this season, the Falcons have a 53-34-2 record in games played here.

Coaches

Denny Stolz begins his eighth season at the Falcon helm. The dean of Mid-American Conference coaches, Stolz has posted a career record of 90-70-2 in 16 years. In seven previous seasons at BGSU, Stolz is 37-41-1. Stolz' career winning percentage of .562 places him in the elite Top 20 among active Division I coaches.

Dal Shealy is in his fifth season as the head coach at Richmond and has posted a record of 13-31 including last week's victory over James Madison University. Shealy became the head coach at Richmond in 1980 after serving as an assistant coach at Auburn, Baylor, Iowa State and Tennessee. Shealy, 45, played his college football at Carson-Newman College in Tennessee.

Series

Richmond leads the series 1-0 by virtue of its 20-17 victory in 1980.

Last Meeting

Bowling Green's John Spengler missed a 51-yard field goal with .14 seconds left in the game as Richmond prevailed 20-17. The Falcons had led 17-14 on a touchdown run by Tom Glendening, a 58-yard touchdown pass from Dave Endres to Shawn Potts, and a 35-yard field goal by Spengler. Richmond scored with 1:13 remaining in the contest to take a 20-17 lead. BG drove to the Richmond 34 where the drive was halted and Spengler attempted the last second field goal.

Scouting Richmond

The Spiders are 1-0 after a 43-12 win over James Madison University last Saturday. Split end Leland Melvin caught ten passes for 208 yards and tailback Greg Grooms rushed for 54 yards and three touchdowns, all on one-yard plunges. Bob Bleier gives the Spiders a solid passing game as he threw for 257 yards on 16 of 24 passes. Richmond has a fine kicker in junior Brendan Toibin who handles all placements and punts. The Spiders have a fine defensive unit and a solid secondary. Saturday, they halted James Madison on 12 of 13 third downs and limited the Dukes to just 74 yards passing.

Scouting The Falcons

Bowling Green returns 15 starters from last year's club that finished 8-3. Leading the way is Heisman Trophy candidate Brian McClure who finished third in the nation last year in total offense. The 6'6" quarterback set many records and is one of the top three QB's in the nation this year. The offensive line appears solid with starters Dean Hall, Dan Schriener, Brian Johnson and Vic Cales returning. Greg King returns to right guard after missing the 1983 campaign with an injury. McClure has solid receivers in wide-outs Stan Hunter, Dean Rutan and Joe Boxley. Tight end Mark Dowdell was the top receiver in the NCAA last year among tight ends. George Schmelzle and Bernard White will be the running backs. Defensively, BG has eight returners including front liners Stu Tolle, Joe Prchlik and Mike Foor. Linebackers Troy Dawson and Chris Hartman have made the switch from defensive end while ends Shawn Simms and Vince Villanucci have moved in from their linebacking spots. The secondary is strong but young with sophomores Raymond Redd and Dean Bryson and juniors Melvin Marshall and Sean Dykes.

Players To Watch

BG-Brian McClure: McClure is among the finest college quarterbacks in the nation this season and will again be leading an outstanding passing attack. The 6'6" junior is stronger and bigger than last year and should again have an outstanding season for the Falcons. McClure was the Outstanding Offensive Player in the MAC in '83.

BG-Melvin Marshall: Marshall has a streak, of sorts. He has intercepted passes in three straight games dating back to last year. The 5'8" junior recorded interceptions in BG's last three games of 1983, against Ball State, Ohio University and Kent State. A second team all-MAC player in '83, Marshall is the most experienced of BG's defensive backs.

BG-Gehad Youssef: Youssef is the top kicker in the MAC in '84. He has connected on 45 straight regular season PAT's and 49 overall including four in the 1982 California Bowl. The senior booter hit on 16 of 23 field goals last year to give him a career total of 33. If he kicks a field goal today he will own the BGSU record for field goals in a career.

BG-Brian Johnson: Though he toiled in relative obscurity last year, Johnson was highly thought of by the coaches in the MAC and he was rewarded with all-MAC honors. The 6'4", 230 senior is one of the mainstays on the BG offensive line.

UR-Leland Melvin: Melvin hauled in ten passes for 208 yards last Saturday, only the second player in UR history to go over 200 yards in a single game. The Falcon defense will key on this 6'0" junior speedster.

UR-Bob Bleier: This 6'3" sophomore threw for nearly 1,400 yards last year and had 257 yards passing in Richmond's opener. BG will have to shut down the Bleier-Melvin combination today in order to halt the Spiders' offense.

1984 Rule Changes

The NCAA Rules Committee quietly put 39 new rule changes into the 1984 rule book. Many of the changes are minute but several have an impact on how the game is played and what fans should look for this afternoon.

The two most sweeping changes involve kick-offs and defensive pass interference.

This year, kick-offs that land beyond the end of the end zone, will be brought out to the 30-yard line. This is to put more excitement into the kick-off returns and to penalize kickers who routinely kick the ball beyond the playing field. A kick that rolls through the end zone or first lands in the end zone before rolling out, will still be brought out to the 20-yard line.

The defensive pass interference call will no longer award the offensive team with the ball at the point of the infraction. Instead, pass interference will result in a 15-yard penalty from the line of scrimmage.

One other change that will be noticeable this afternoon is roughing the kicker. Previously, if a defensive player was blocked into the punter, there was not a penalty. In 1984, any player roughing the kicker, even if he is blocked into the kicker by an offensive player, will award the kicking team with an automatic first down.

Head Coach Denny Stolz

Denny Stolz, the dean of Mid-American Conference football coaches, enters his eighth season at Bowling Green as one of the winningest coaches in America. With an overall record of 90-70-2 and a winning percentage of .562 for 16 years of coaching college football, Stolz is now a member of the select Top Twenty Football Coaches in the nation.

Stolz, with previous head coaching spots at Alma College and Michigan State, has won Coach of the Year honors at all three institutions including being named MAC Coach of the Year following the 1982 MAC Championship season.

"It's thrilling to be associated with the best 20 coaches (in the nation)," said Stolz before the start of the season. "It's an example of a lot of hard work over the last 16 years and a real commitment to the game of football."

"It's also a reflection on the fine assistant coaches and players I've worked with. You don't win games any other way. I've been fortunate to surround myself with fine coaches and players."

Stolz rejuvenated the football programs at Alma and Michigan State before coming to Bowling Green in 1977. His teams were undefeated in back-to-back seasons at Alma in 1967 and 1968. The 7-3-1 record his 1974 Michigan State team compiled was the best in seven years in East Lansing, and earned Stolz Big Ten Coach of the Year honors.

Stolz again breathed new life into the BGSU football program, leading the Falcons into contention for the MAC title in 1980. In 1981, the Falcons won five straight games, finishing with a fourth place finish in the MAC. In 1982, the Falcons were on top of the conference with a 7-2 conference mark and an appearance in the California Bowl.

Through his first seven seasons at Bowling

Green, Stolz has led the Falcons to a 37-41-1 record and BG's MAC record of 14-4 over the last two seasons is the finest in the conference.

Stolz is a native of Lansing, MI and grew up in Mason, MI. Stolz and his three brothers all attended Alma College and Denny earned a bachelor's degree in 1955. He played quarterback for the Scots, and upon graduation became the head football coach at Haslett (MI) High School, where he was 40-13-3 in nine years for a winning percentage of .741. Stolz then spent one year as defensive coordinator at Lansing Eastern High School before being named head coach at Alma prior to the 1965 season. His next stop was Michigan State where Stolz served for two years as defensive coordinator for Duffy Daugherty before being named the Spartans' head coach in 1973. Stolz led the Spartans into the top 20 teams in the nation, finishing twelfth in the Associated Press poll in 1975.

Born September 12, 1934, Denny and his wife, Cena, have a son, Doak, 24, and two daughters, Dawn, 23 and Denise, 17.

BGSU IN THE NEWS

Compiled by the BGSU Public Relations Office

The news about the achievements of Bowling Green State University's students and faculty travels across the nation in newspapers, magazines, radio and television. Here are just a few of the current BGSU headlines.

Sleep Research

Sleep apparently is not as relaxing and comfortable as many people seem to think. According to some studies, more than 10 million Americans suffer from some kind of sleep disorder.

And researchers have found many reasons why people are not getting a good night's sleep. Dr. Pete Badia, psychology, is a recognized authority on sleep disorders and has been conducting sleep research at Bowling Green State University the past five years. He is particularly interested in a problem called sleep apnea, in which a person actually stops breathing for short periods while sleeping. Victims are unaware of their erratic breathing and the stoppages can occur hundreds of times a night and can range from 10 seconds to, in extreme cases, two minutes.

The short term effect is tiredness, drowsiness and lack of energy. Badia said it is unknown what happens to the brain during these stoppages although some damage to tissue is suspected.

Badia and his associates have been attempting to treat central apnea, which is one of three major categories of the condition, by teaching patients to breathe during their sleep by responding to an electronic signal. Initial studies have indicated that subjects do respond to the signal, but the technique, although it holds great promise, is still being evaluated.

Badia was recently appointed a visiting research scientist at St. Vincent Medical Center in Toledo to help that facility develop a nationally known sleep disorders center. As part of the agreement, St. Vincent will sponsor an annual graduate assistantship and fellowship and set aside two research rooms for University use at the hospital.

Speech and Hearing

Talking and hearing are skills which most of us take for granted. But for those who have lost those skills through birth defects, injury or surgery, communicating is a battle.

And helping with that battle is the University's Speech and Hearing Clinic. Approximately 400 new persons use the clinic's facilities, which are located in South Hall, each year.

The clinic serves double duty, providing low-cost, high-quality service to its patients, while also serving as a training ground for student majoring in the communication disorders program.

The clinic is only one of several centers which provides services to the public. The others include the Reading Center, the Psychological Services Center, the Math Clinic, the Creative Arts Program, and the Saturday Clinic for Handicapped Youth, to name a few.

Bowling Green State University

Through its five undergraduate colleges, Bowling Green State University offers more than 150 degree programs in the traditional arts and sciences, as well as business, education, music and the growing field of health and community services. In addition, the Graduate College has 50 master's degrees and nine doctoral degree programs.

About 15,000 students are enrolled at Bowling Green. More than half of the undergraduates live in campus residence halls and most of the remainder within a couple of miles of the University.

For this closely-knit community of students, the University encourages and supports a large number of extra-curricular activities — including academic, cultural and social programs. On any given day, these events may include a concert, lecture, panel discussion, theatre or dance performance, film, mixer or other social get-together. The University also has a strong fraternity and sorority system and the campus is home to more than 200 clubs and organizations. Sports are also a major part of Bowling Green, and the University offers an extensive varsity and club program for both men and women.

Another dimension of this residential University is its recreational facilities. At the hub is the Student Recreation Center, which houses basketball, volleyball, racquetball and tennis courts, two swimming pools, weight rooms, a running track, a golf and archery range and numerous all-purpose activity areas.

At Bowling Green, students learn as much outside the classroom as they do in it. It is a concept to which the University is committed, making certain that learning is a non-stop activity and that at the end of four years, the University graduates an intelligent, mature and well-rounded individual.

This out-of-class learning is enhanced by the diverse backgrounds, ideas and beliefs of our students. Bowling Green students come from nearly all of Ohio's 88 counties, all 50 states and more than 60 foreign countries. This mix of students helps to create an exciting atmosphere for intellectual and cultural exchange.

This exchange is encouraged and directed by more than 700 full-time faculty members. These men and women are experts in their fields of study, and many are on the cutting edge of scientific research and discovery. During the past several years, faculty members have annually received approximately $4 million from outside agencies and foundations to conduct research.

At the center of this intellectual activity is the University's nine story Jerome Library, housing a collection of more than 700,000 books, 1.2 million pieces of microfilm, and 4,700 subscriptions to magazines, journals and other periodicals. The library is also home to 175,000 sound recordings, 375,000 government documents and a Popular Culture Library which supports the studies of the University's nationally known Popular Culture Program.

The newest addition to the University is the Physical Sciences Laboratory Building. Completed in January of 1984, the building provides increased area for chemistry research and instruction.

Pat Cleveland: BGSU's New Face

By Chris Sherk

Michael Blake was a freshman wide receiver at "Midwestern University," when fate dealt him a devastating blow one Saturday afternoon.

Time was running out, and Midwestern trailed intra-state rival Central Tech by three points before 50,000 rabid football fans in Memorial Stadium. The ball was deep in Central Tech territory.

Faced with the opportunity to make the game-winning catch, Michael Blake ran the perfect route and was in the clear when the ball arrived. But rather than looking the ball in his hands, Michael turned his attention to the end zone. . .

A critical mistake. Michael Blake was left smacking his hands in disgust as the ball dropped harmlessly to the turf. Time ran out, and Midwestern was a three-point loser.

Michael Blake's future as a football player was crippled by that play. Considered unreliable by his coaches, he was soon relegated to third and fourth-string status. In the end, he was written off as a failure.

Michael Blake quit the football team in November and packed his bags for home.

To Pat Cleveland, there is not a more tragic story in college sports today than the example above—one that she witnessed first-hand before coming to Bowling Green last month.

As Bowling Green State University's new academic coordinator for the Athletic Department, Cleveland could be considered the University's insurance policy against a repeat of the Michael Blake story.

"I've seen so many student-athletes leave school for one reason or another," Cleveland said the other day from her office in Doyt Perry Stadium. "Some leave school for the pros, others leave with 'WFs' on their grade cards, burning their bridges behind them for a college education.

"If you leave school and close all of those doors behind you, then what?" she asks. "I don't think schools exist merely to get people jobs. A college education offers so much more than that. If you are stimulated to learn throughout your life on the basis of ideas gained in college, there are many alternative opportunities—and getting a job is not a problem."

This is the message that Pat Cleveland is spreading in her new capacity as Director for Academic and Regulatory Affairs in the BGSU Athletic Department. Hired by Athletic Director Jack Gregory in August, Cleveland will supervise the academic progress of almost 500 University student-athletes, while interpreting NCAA and Mid-American Conference rules. This, says Gregory, is another "giant step forward in the philosophy of our department, that being our pursuit of excellence in academics and athletics."

Cleveland feels comfortable with a slightly different definition of her job. She explains her role as that of academic coordinator rather than academic advisor.

"I am not the academic advisor for athletes at Bowling Green State University," she said. "I couldn't possibly be a good advisor to almost 500 people. Advising requires a personal involvement over a period of time. It involves getting to know the students and their capabilities. This involvement is basic to the teacher-student relationship and to the excellent advising services available on campus now.

"While I hope to work with the student-athletes, it is my primary goal to encourage them to more actively participate in existing academic and advisory services, rather than to duplicate them."

Pat Cleveland brings to Bowling Green an extensive background in academics and advising. An honors graduate of Colorado State University in 1968, she later earned her master's (also with honors) and doctorate degrees from the University of Kansas.

Her professional career has taken her from teaching positions at Fort Lewis College in Durango, CO, and Ottawa (KS) University to key advisory positions at the University of Kansas.

Beyond her academic pursuits, she has worked as a researcher and consultant in the area of office automation & human factors in computerization. Athletically, she was a three-year member of the Colorado State women's swimming team. More recently, she devoted a year to advising athletes at KU.

Cases like that of Michael Blake convinced her of the need for further involvement in the field.

"I would like to draw out our students, so that they can feel more participatory in the classroom and in the educational process, generally," Cleveland said. "I would encourage them to hang around after class and bounce ideas off other students and faculty members. This active involvement is the way one really learns something. These are the relationships from which people really benefit 30 years later."

Isolating the student-athlete from the rest of the student body is not the answer to academic problems, according to the Cedar Rapids, IO, native. Support strategies which single out the student-athlete for special treatment can only lead to an "adversarial relationship" between academics and athletics. It is exactly this kind of philosophy that she hopes to combat.

Her ideas are almost as numerous as the "clients" she serves. Yet, each one is detailed with enthusiasm when Cleveland speaks.

Among these ideas are a study skills workshop, which she says benefitted all participants—including herself—when it was offered at the University of Kansas.

She also hopes to encourage Bowling Green's coaches and players to make regular visits to her office. "Getting to know each one of the student-athletes," is a high priority item on her agenda. Hopefully, through regular contact, the "horror stories" like the Michael Blake example will be avoided.

"I want to dispel the belief that I'm here simply to ensure eligibility," she said. "But I do think I can help direct students with problems to places where they can find answers, and I am impressed with the fact that there are so many opportunities for student support on this campus."

"Moreover, there are a large number of student-athletes here who don't have any academic problems, many of whom are honors students in the classroom. But they may need help with time-management problems or encouragement to pursue excellence in their chosen fields. What I'd like to find is a way to help these kids have their cake and eat it too."

"I'd like to develop a network of communication that will constitute a bridge between our athletes and all of the great programs and people we have working here on the academic side. Hopefully, our kids will get a fuller experience, rather than simply taking the line of least resistance. There is a wide range of opportunities open to them at Bowling Green."

Gehad Youssef: Just For Kicks

By Chris Sherck

Gehad Youssef has been visualizing this moment for weeks.

It's the 1984 season-opener at Bowling Green State University. A large crowd at Doyt Perry Field awaits the opening kickoff as the Falcons prepare to launch into another football campaign. The University of Richmond provides the opposition.

The ball is teed up. The whistle blows. And then the kick...

"I'm really psyched for this season to start," says Youssef, who will be toeing the line all season long for Head Coach Denny Stolz as Bowling Green's placekicker. Now in his senior season, Youssef holds one school record and is likely to set a few more before he's through.

"It seems like I've been waiting for this season to start all summer," he said upon his return to campus in August. "I live in Toledo, and being up there I hear a lot about the Rockets. And I just keep thinking, '...just wait.'"

Well, the waiting is finally over, as of about 1 p.m. this afternoon. And whether or not Youssef actually breaks the seal on the new season with the opening kick makes little difference in his mind. He knows he'll have plenty of chances to whip his right leg toward the goalposts this fall.

Youssef has been Bowling Green's No. 1 placekicker throughout his Falcon career. He first began booming the ball skyward as the heir apparent to former BG great John Spengler, whose name still appears in the Falcon record book.

Though he didn't begin with a soaring start, Youssef gradually improved his technique with each passing game. And last year, he laid claim to being one of the best kickers in the Mid-American Conference with his perfection on extra-point kicks (29 of 29) and his 16 field goals, a school record total for one season.

He even out-legged the competition last year with a school-record 56-yard field goal at Western Michigan. That kick went down as the second longest field goal in MAC history, one yard shy of the mark set by Ohio University's Gary Homer in 1973. Central Michigan's Rade Savich equalled the distance two years later.

Youssef, a self-described "calm, modest person...depending on the stage of the game," is reluctant to speak about his accomplishments, but he admits that he feels the added attention that is focused upon the MAC's top returning kicker. He was honorable mention all-MAC in 1983, and this year he figures to rate even higher.

"There's tremendous pressure on me, after the year I had last year. But I try not to think about it," he said. "We had a meeting with Coach Stolz and among other things he told us that the special teams need to be more consistent this year. that includes the kicks, punts, placements and returns. It's a team goal this year. But this being my senior year, I just want to do the best I can for the team."

That Youssef is even playing football is a surprise in itself sometimes. Egyptian-born, he first started kicking balls with his feet at 5. Only, the balls he was booting were soccer balls. The oval shape of a football didn't even enter his mind until he was a seventh grader attending an American school. Friends watched him kick around a soccer ball in the schoolyard and suggested he apply his skill to football. It didn't take him long to make the adjustment, but the game seemed strange to him at first.

"In Egypt, we didn't have any football," he said. "So when I first came here, I didn't know what the game was about. At first I thought,

Gehad Youssef

"Why are those people out there killing themselves?"

He laughs at the thought today. But with two staples implanted in his kicking leg from a high school injury, he still wonders about the hazards of the game. But he seems content in knowing he's a better, more consistent kicker today than ever before.

"I've been improving all along. Hopefully, that will continue this year," he says, adding that a placekicker can be only as successful as the snap, the line and the placement allow him to be. "The whole team takes part in it. And when they are behind you, you know you can do it."

"I still get a little nervous with each kick. Every kicker does. But I try to remain calm, set the tee down, get the right angle to the goalposts, and mentally go through the steps. In my head, I picture the perfect field goal."

This afternoon, he'll learn how perfect the picture is in 1984.

TEAMMATES

Old Milwaukee brings you two great players.
Old Milwaukee, the beer that tastes as great as its name.
And Old Milwaukee Light, the beer that got the taste of light right. Any way you play it, that's

CIMARRON '84 THIS ONE'S GOT THE TOUCH.

The Cadillac touch. It's Electronic Fuel Injection, matched by a tenacious Touring Suspension that comes to grips with the road.

It's leather-faced front bucket seats with lumbar support behind a leather-trimmed steering wheel that lets you know you're in control.

It's new grille and taillight styling. Laser-accurate quality fits. It's Cimarron '84...with something no other car in its class has. The Cadillac touch.

BEST OF ALL...IT'S A CADILLAC.

Let's Get It Together...Buckle Up.

Today's Band Program

The beginning of the school year brings about the color and excitement of fall, but it also signals the end of the fun times of summer. The Falcon Marching Band joins in the celebration of today's "Welcome Back to School Days" with one last glimpse of summer. Our show opens with the musical thought that Breaking Up is Hard to Do, but we reaffirm that the good times are Far From Over. Our concert presentation encourages everyone to get Footloose which is followed by the beautiful themes of The Way He Makes Me Feel. We next pay tribute to jazz great Count Basie with a medley entitled The Count. We close our show with a salute to the men and women who won our hearts and rekindled our fires of patriotism, the 1984 U.S. Olympic team.

Promotions Column

Today is WELCOME BACK TO SCHOOL DAY and the Athletic Department takes this opportunity to welcome all Wood County school children as well as all members of the BGSU student body who are in attendance! We also want to make sure to say hello and thanks to our loyal season ticket holders and to those fans who are here for the first time. Welcome back to Bowling Green and the start of another fantastic Falcon Football season!

This is our third annual Welcome Back to School Day and we are very pleased and proud of the success this program has had. It started off small, only students from Bowling Green were invited to attend. This year, all students in Wood County are involved, an impressive 18,000! The program owes it's success to the support and generosity of local businesses and industries throughout Wood County who share the Athletic Department's belief that the Falcons are Wood County's team and that support, both monetarily and enthusiastically, is important to the success of the team, the city of Bowling Green and the county. To those many businesses and boosters (names will appear on the Falcon-Fan-A-Gram) who contributed to the program, a big THANK YOU!

This column is an excellent means to communicate with Falcon Fans on upcoming events not only at the stadium but throughout Falcon Sports. I welcome your comments, suggestions and ideas that would provide you with the material you would like to read.

I want to alert fans that the Falcons have opened ticket outlets in a variety of locations throughout the area to assist them in securing Falcon Football tickets. Outlets are located at the Falcon House in BG, Bill's Men's and Boy's Wear in Fostoria, both Huntington Bank branches in Perrysburg, The Greeting Exchange at Portside as well as the newly opened Ice Arena Ticket Outlet (hours are 12-4 daily) and the Memorial Hall Ticket Office. Stop by any of these conveniently located outlets and get your tickets to future Falcon home games. If you would prefer to call the Memorial Hall Office the numbers are 372-2762 and 372-2364. The Ice Arena Office can be reached at 372-2727. We are open to serve you...please take advantage of us!

Our next home game is September 29 when the Eastern Michigan Hurons come to town. The Falcons will be on the road for the next two weekends so a large and enthusiastic crowd welcoming them back would be a great sight! McClure and Company perform for you, and if past history is any indication, the performances throughout the remainder of the season should be great ones. Make your plans today for future Falcon home games. See you at Perry Field on September 29!

VARSITY BG CLUB SAYS GO FALCONS!

ABOUT THE VARSITY BG CLUB

The Varsity BG Club is an exclusive organization open only to former Bowling Green State University varsity letterwinners, who for $10 per year can help operate the club and support BGSU athletics at the same time. Four hundred former Falcon letterwinners joined the Varsity BG Club last year, and the number is expected to climb even higher during the 1984-85 membership year. Again this year, the Varsity BG Club is offering a lifetime membership for $100; no other dues will ever be required. Lifetime memberships for those 65 and older are only $50.

The Varsity BG Club undertakes three major projects each year, the first of which occurs each spring with the annual Recognition Dinner and Program. Honored that night are the annual winners of the College Coach of the Year, High School Coach of the Year, and the Special Recognition Award winner. Last year, Dave McClain of Wisconsin, Mike Bartley of Shaker Heights, OH, and George Baldwin of Kutztown, PA, were honored.

Each July, the Varsity BG Club holds the annual Doyt Perry Golf Outing in Bowling Green and each fall, the Club celebrates Varsity BG Day at a Falcon football game. This year, the Falcons meet Eastern Michigan on September 29 in the annual Varsity BG Day game.

MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

All active members of the Varsity BG Club will receive:

- Membership in an exclusive organization open only to BGSU varsity letterwinners.
- Special activities and programs, such as the ones described above.
- Subscription to the quarterly newsletter, and a Varsity BG Club membership card that entitles the holder to one free reserved bench seat ticket for each of BGSU's five home football games in 1984. Just show your 1984-85 membership card at the east side ticket booth on game day for free admission.
- A 10 percent discount on BGSU football, basketball and hockey season tickets.
- Personal satisfaction in contributing to BGSU athletics through your continued involvement.

Vital Statistics

Denny Stolz

Head Coach, BGSU

Denny Stolz, who will celebrate his 50th birthday on Wednesday, is in his 17th year of coaching collegiate football. This year, Denny has broken into the national top 20 coaches list. With a career record of 90-70-2 and a winning percentage of .562, Stolz is one of the finest active coaches in the NCAA ranks today. With previous coaching stops at Alma College and Michigan State, Stolz has been involved in a number of post-season bowl games, has coached teams to undefeated seasons, and led his 1974 Spartan squad to a 12th place national ranking. He has been named Coach of the Year in three different conferences. So who is the guy behind all these impressive statistics and credentials?

Name: Denny Stolz

Birthdate: September 12, 1934.

Birthplace: Lansing, Michigan.

Height and Weight: 5 feet 9 inches, 178 pounds.

Education: B.S. Alma College (Biology), M.A. Michigan State University (Secondary Administration).

Family Information: Wife Cena; children, Doak, 24; Dawn, 23; Denise, 17.

Daily Routine: In season: 7:30 a.m., office. 8:30, staff meeting. 9-2:30 p.m., "Football". 2:30, quarterback meeting. 3:30, practice. Evening, film study. "I'm usually in bed around 10 or 10:30 and up each morning around 6:30."

Favorite Food: "I like seafood but it's hard to beat a plain, old-fashioned cheeseburger."

Favorite Literature: "I enjoy reading about history, especially World War II."

Favorite TV Shows: "60 Minutes" on the serious side; "Hogan's Heroes" and "Hee-Haw" for entertainment. "I like Schultz the best. Interestingly enough, I don't watch much football on TV."

Favorite Music/Performers: "I like country music but I also like soft classical music when I'm not really listening." Enjoys performers in the mold of Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin. "Years ago, I liked Elvis Presley."

Favorite Quotation: "It's something I've carried with me since I was at Alma: 'Victory shall come to the worthy', Corona Veniet Delectis. Also one I learned in the Army: 'Plan your work and work your plan.'"

Earliest Sports Memory: "When I was young, there just wasn't anything else (but sports). I played American Legion baseball. Playing high school sports is as vivid to me now as if it happened yesterday. I remember listening to football and baseball games on the radio, especially the Tigers, Army and Michigan."

Boyhood Idols: "Doak Walker of SMU and the Lions, and Glenn Davis, an all-American at Army."

Favorite Sports Other Than Football: "Baseball, golf and harness racing. I really like the outdoors, hunting and fishing, which football doesn't allow much time for."

Most Triumphant Moment in Sports: "There has to be three. First, winning the 1982 MAC Championship was so significant because of the 18 years since the last championship. Second, beating Ohio State in football in 1974 on national TV. ABC called it one of the ten greatest games ever televised. Ohio State came in ranked number one and undefeated. (Michigan State won 16-13). Third, beating Notre Dame and Dan Devine at Notre Dame, 10-7, in 1975."

Most Depressing Moment in Sports: "Tying Illinois in 1974. That kept us from going to the Rose Bowl. Also, losing the California Bowl in 1982."

Best Personality Trait as a Coach: Awareness. "I have a good idea of what's going on around me — in terms of players, coaches and opponents. I'm aware of the changes that have occurred in players and the game over the years that I've coached. Also, I feel I have the ability to express myself and communicate with players and coaches."

Worst Personality Trait as a Coach: "Not spending enough time with all 100 members of the squad. That is head and shoulders the worst thing I do."

Favorite Trait in a Player: Unselfishness, sacrifice and dedication."

Least Favorite Trait in a Player: "Lack of dedication and disloyalty."

Favorite Rivalry: While at Bowling Green, games against Miami and Toledo. While at Michigan State, games against Michigan and Notre Dame.

Best Players Ever Coached: "Excluding those on our present squad, it would have to be Mark Miller, Jeff Groth and Martin Bayless. Those are three of the best. At Michigan State, Kirk Gibson, Billy Simpson and Brad Van Pelt stand out."

Most Outstanding Player as an Opponent: "Joe Theismann at Notre Dame and Steve Young at Brigham Young. I have no hesitation whatsoever on those two."

Superstitions: "I only have one and that is being behind at the end of the fourth quarter."

Greatest Satisfaction: "I have two goals in coaching that both give me great satisfaction. First, is to give our team the best possible chance to win. Secondly, is to help young coaches rise in the coaching profession."

The Jefferson Trophy

The Mid-American Conference's Most Valuable Player annually receives the Jefferson Trophy, an award conceived by the Downtown Athletic Club of Toledo.

The award was first presented in 1982 at a banquet in Toledo. The trophy, a glass sculpture of a football with the MAC seal etched in it, is on permanent display at the College Football Hall of Fame in Kings Island, Ohio.

Ray Bentley of Central Michigan won the inaugural Jefferson Trophy in 1982, and Tim Tyrrell, the quarterback of league champion Northern Illinois, won the award in 1983.

The winner of the award is selected from among 10 nominees—one from each MAC school—by a panel of the 10 head football coaches and 20 media representatives. The winner is kept secret until the actual announcement at the banquet.

Guest speakers for the first two banquets have been former Pittsburgh Steeler Rocky Bleier and Michigan football coach Bo Schembechler. The 1983 banquet drew a sell-out crowd of more than 500 people.

The third annual Jefferson Trophy banquet will be held at the Downtown Toledo Athletic Club on Tuesday, December 4, 1984.

The Jefferson Trophy serves a three-fold purpose, according to Bill Buehrer, the founder of the award. "First, we want to enhance the visibility of the individual nominees. Second, we wish to add to the prestige and public awareness of the Mid-American Conference. And third, we hope to foster a deepened feeling of fraternity and league identity among coaches, players and administrators by bringing them together for this program."

The first two Jefferson Trophy recipients were very deserving of this honor. Bentley was the MAC Defensive Player of the Year in 1982, and the very next spring was a standout linebacker in helping the Michigan Panthers to the United States Football League Championship.

Tyrrell was the inspirational leader of the Northern Illinois' Huskies last year, guiding them to their first MAC football championship, and to a victory over Cal State-Fullerton in California Bowl III.

FACES IN THE CROWD

Men's Cross Country . . .

Mel Brodt, Bowling Green State University's respected men's cross country coach, would like nothing better than to celebrate his 24th anniversary as Falcon CC coach with a Mid-American Conference championship.

From the looks of his roster, Brodt may have the team to do just that. The season got under way Friday in a triangular meet at Ohio State with Toledo. Expected to lead Bowling Green in 1984 are seven seniors, all with hopes of winning the MAC for Mel. They are Dan Gruneisen, an all-conference runner in 1983, Jeff Boutelle, Mickey DeChellis, Gaetan Girard, Doug Hogrefe, Brian Malsam and Doug Sauers.

The Falcons open their home schedule next Saturday at 11 a.m. against Ohio University, Eastern Michigan and Marshall.

Women's Cross Country . . .

There may be no more dominant team in college athletics today than the Bowling Green women's cross country team, coached by Sid Sink.

With today's 3:30 p.m. season-opening meet at Toledo, the Falcons began their run toward a fifth-consecutive Mid-American Conference championship. The matter will be decided Nov. 3 at Toledo.

Coach Sink will be looking at a senior-laden team in 1984, yet he insists there is room at the top for two or three promising newcomers to make their marks. Leading returnees include seniors Rosalie Cocita, Laura Murphy, Cathy Schenkel, Laura Ryder, and Pat and Pam Panchak. Junior Sara Collas is back after being Bowling Green's top runner a year ago.

Soccer . . .

The Bowling Green State University soccer program enjoyed its most successful season on record in 1983, gaining national attention with 16-3-1 record and an eight-week stay in Soccer America's Top 20.

This year's schedule reflects Bowling Green's continuing commitment to excellence in the sport. Head Coach Gary Palmisano believes there could be 10 or 11 teams on the 1984 schedule with Top 20 potential. Palmisano would like to believe that his Falcons will be among the elite.

Bowling Green opened the season last weekend in the Budweiser Holiday Classic in Akron. They play twice at home this week against Marquette (Wednesday) and Wisconsin-Green Bay (Saturday).

Among the returnees are goalkeeper Kim Bucher, forward Denis Wesley, back Pat Kenney and midfielder Nan Chul Shin.

Volleyball . . .

The Bowling Green State University volleyball program experienced some growing pains during Coach Denise Van De Walle's first year in charge last fall. But strong play in the latter part of the season created a good feeling about the prospects for 1984.

Bowling Green begins the new volleyball season today at the University of Michigan. Coach Van De Walle hopes the Falcons can extend the three-game winning streak they began at the end of 1983.

Leading the way among the returning players are three-year letterwinner Becky Snider and juniors Deb Hopkins and Sue Scott. Van De Walle also will be looking for help from talented group of sophomores and freshmen.

Richmond Spiders

Last season, as a freshman redshirt, Richmond's Bob Bleier established himself as the Spiders' starting signalcaller. Bleier appeared in all 11 games and started the last nine of the season.

"Bob stepped in and did a good job for us last season, and we expect even bigger and better things from him this year," said head coach Dal Shealy. "He is a proven leader with a great deal of confidence who has all the tools to get the job done."

Helping Bleier get the job done will be an experienced receiving corps led by junior split end Leland Melvin. A bonafide All-American candidate and one of the nation's top returning I-AA receivers, Melvin caught 55 passes for 682-yards and five touchdowns last season.

The Spiders will find it tough to replace tailback Jarvis Jennings who rushed for 1,163 yards last season. UR will be looking to junior David Bayer to improve upon his statistics from last year. In 1983, Bayer rushed for 410 yards on 84 carries and scored two touchdowns. Sophomore Greg Grooms appears to have the inside track at tailback and is also being used as the Spiders' back-up quarterback.

Senior Eddie Martin has been shifted from center to offensive tackle and anchors a veteran offensive line. In addition to Martin, four other seniors should see plenty of action along the offensive front. Health remains the biggest question mark for the offensive line however, with three players coming off of knee injuries.

Defensively, the Spiders had trouble against the run last season but should be improved up front with the loss of only one defensive lineman. Senior tackle Steve Lester will lead the Spiders in the trenches while juniors Troy Gray (110 tackles) and Don Miller will head the Spider linebacking crew.

Three of four starters return to a Spider secondary that ranked among the best in I-AA last season. Junior cornerback Gary O'Bryant led the team in interceptions with four. Senior cornerback Billy Starke had two interceptions last season and may be the fastest player on the UR roster. Junior Taylor Lackey recorded 101 tackles and should start at strong safety while converted quarterback Napoleon DuBois should start at free safety.

Junior Brendan Toibin returns for his third season as the Spider punter and will also handle the placekicking chores.

"It will be important for us to keep our experienced people healthy," says Shealy. "Depth remains our biggest question mark, so we will be relying on our freshmen to come in and contribute immediately. We feel good about the progress we made during the spring and hope that all goes well for us in the fall."

Split end Leland Melvin makes one of his eight catches vs. JMU last season.

California Bowl Awaits MAC Champion

The champions of the Mid-American Conference and the Pacific Coast Athletic Association will battle in Fresno State University's 30,000-seat Bulldog Stadium when California Bowl IV kicks off on Saturday, Dec. 15.

The Cal Bowl, one of the NCAA's youngest bowl games and a benefit for Fresno's Valley Children's Hospitals, has developed a flair for the dramatic in its three year history. In the inaugural bowl game in 1981, Tony Lee's 41-yard field goal with just seconds left in the contest lifted Toledo to a frantic, 27-25 victory over San Jose State. Cal Bowl II saw Fresno State, playing before a home crowd of more than 30,000, overcome a 21-point deficit in the final 12 minutes to edge Bowling Green, 29-28. Last year, MAC champion Northern Illinois' third quarter touchdown proved to be the difference in a 20-13 Huskies' victory over PCAA titlist Fullerton State.

Mizlou and ESPN, which have televised the last three California Bowls, will again televise this year's event. In excess of 5 million viewers saw last year's contest. Cal Bowl IV will kick off at 1 p.m. Pacific Standard Time.

The game itself caps a spectacular week of cultural and sporting activities that are designed to include people from all over the San Joaquin Valley as well as the area served by the NCAA and the MAC. Fans are in for "Football 'N More in 84."

One of the many highlights of bowl week is the visit by the football players to Valley Children's Hospital, which serves as a charitable beneficiary for the game. Last year's donation to the hospital was $20,000, raising the three-year donation to nearly $40,000.

Sponsored by the Greater San Joaquin Valley Sports Association, the California Bowl was born on April 24, 1979, when the NCAA Extra Events Committee granted its sanctioning. The "closed end" agreement between the PCAA and MAC is one of the only two such bowl pacts locking in both participants from specific conferences. The two leagues have shared in over $700,000 in gate receipts generated from the three previous bowl games.

Bowling Green senior offensive tackle Dean Hall is pictured with the Jefferson Trophy, awarded annually to the most outstanding player in the Mid-American Conference. Though a quarterback and linebacker claimed the first two Jefferson Trophies, Hall is hoping that this is the year that offensive linemen are given their recognition. Hall is pictured inside the College Football Hall of Fame at King's Island.

Offense wins games and defense wins championships, or so many coaches are said to say. Bowling Green's defense, among the nation's best last year against the run, is going to be even better this season. Falcon defenders Mike Foor (96) and Troy Dawson (88) apply pressure to the Ball State quarterback during last year's 45-30 BGSU victory.
